

APETT TECHNICAL CONFERENCE 2015

25th – 26th June, 2015, Trinidad and Tobago

Theme: Engineering for Sustainable Development in the Caribbean

CALL FOR PAPERS

The main objective of this Technical Conference, hosted by the Association of Professional Engineers of Trinidad and Tobago, is to highlight the ever increasing and critical need to proactively engineer the principles of sustainability into all aspects of development in our Region. This conference will seek to examine the eco-centric, socio-centric and especially the techno-centric concerns that will ensure that our continued development is sustainable - "To ensure that it meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs"

The Conference will ultimately assess where we are in the region with respect to sustainability of our ongoing development and will provide a deeper understanding of the relevant engineering principles, current research and development, approval processes, governmental agency oversight, and will help identify gaps that currently exists so that we may enhance our capability as engineers to provide more effective and technologically advanced solutions that are acute for Small Island Developing States (SIDS). The Conference will comprise Keynote Speakers, Panel Discussions, Presentations from Experts, and would be an excellent networking opportunity for all stakeholders.
